

environmental policy

The environment is important to us which is why we are making some changes with the way we think and work.

- We have attended the Green Foundation course, and have met some brilliant like minded people that have taught us to think differently and implement some change.
- Working in a small studio from home, I do not use heating and lighting unnecessarily and have a 'no electricity hour' where I run electricity purely from my laptop.
- All paper waste is recycled and work is only printed out as and when needed, if I really need to..
- All packaging received is either recycled or composted and all print cartridges are recycled according to standards in the correct packaging.
- Anything sent out in the post is carefully considered too and if we can it is sent in recycled or already used packaging.
- When we are out we try to walk everywhere as much as possible, or if we use the car it is a fuel efficient car, with low emissions.
- We also source local suppliers where we can for our digital needs where possible who have FSC accreditation and who use sustainably sourced products.
