

social policy

As well as being more environmentally aware from attending the Green Foundation course, we also work with the local community to promote what people do too....so...

- We are now regularly attending local networking events in St Austell, Truro and soon to be Bodmin to meet other people, where we have found that as well as promoting designthoughts we find out about other businesses and people too.
- We are a member of Network Cornwall where we actively give advice to other people where we can. We are also a member on LinkedIn where we also give advice about design where we can.
- We have just launched a new designthoughts newsletter, where we share tips, advice and links that we feel are useful to others.
- To support our local town, we have worked with Radio St Austell Bay (RSAB) in providing design for promotional material for events that they hold.
